Arlington Public Schools transitions to online student enrollment

ARLINGTON- Arlington Public Schools has transitioned from a paper based student enrollment format to an online, electronic student enrollment platform to make it easier for families to register their child for school. This streamlined process is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and makes it easier for families to upload registration-related documents and links to an online immunization information system.

“Families without a computer can use their smart phone to access the registration,” said Will Nelson, Director of Equity and Student Success. “If this method doesn’t work for them, they can still call their child’s school and schedule an appointment to register their child.”

Families can access the link by going to www.asd.wednet.edu and clicking on “Quick Links-New Student Registration.”
